Turf Nation Continues Partnership with Prominent Hawaii Turf Installer, Applied Surfacing Technology

Dalton, GA, January 23, 2017 – Turf Nation, a leading manufacturer of high-quality synthetic turf surfaces, is proud to announce that it is continuing its partnership with Applied Surfacing Technology (AST), Hawaii's most experienced installer of synthetic turf fields. Turf Nation previously worked with AST on the last two Pro Bowl surfaces installed at Aloha Stadium (also home to the University of Hawaii football team), as well as projects for John Kauinana Stadium at Mililani High School, Kamehameha Schools Maui and Kaneohe Marine Corps Base.

"The quality and consistency of the Turf Nation turf is fantastic," said AST's Denny Sadowski, praising logo work Turf Nation recently did for McKinley High School in Honolulu. "Nobody does logo work better. The best logo we've ever had was one they completed recently for McKinley. They make my life easier, that's what Turf Nation and their people are all about."

Turf Nation stadium surfaces are manufactured using the highest grade C8 polyethylene fiber, which helps ensure superior performance and durability. All components of a Turf Nation synthetic turf system are manufactured in the U.S., and each surface is custom-designed to a team's or school's specific needs. All synthetic turf surfaces are field-tested by an independent laboratory prior to shipping.

"We are thrilled to continue our long-lasting relationship with Denny and the great folks at AST," said Turf Nation President Sid Nicholls. "Their professionalism and installation expertise is among the best in the nation; they truly are everything you could hope for in a partner."
